

Courtesy of William F. Cone and Newark Public Library

Courtesy of William F. Cone and Newark Public Library

Courtesy of William F. Cone and Newark Public Library

Picture in upper left shows student's sketch of Newark Academy building which occupied site at Broad and Academy streets from 1795 to 1856. Upper right is first Newark Post Office and Customs House, which dominated scene from 1857 to 1894, and at lower left is succeeding post office building, which was torn down in 1936. At lower right is plot as it appeared in 1948 during abortive construction effort.